The first floating hotel in the Gulf was inaugurated under the patronage of Bahrain Authority for Tourism and Exhibitions Acting CEO Shaikh Khalid bin Humood Al Khalifa yesterday. The hotel represents a nearly $4 million investment, built to the highest specifications, with superior finishing and furnishings. The floating C Hotel represents the culmination of several phases of expansions and improvements at the Coral Bay resort, which boasts a broad spectrum of top-of-the-range facilities. These include a spa, a hairdressing salon, restaurants, beaches, water sports – and now a five-star floating boutique hotel. The C Hotel is part of the Hotel des Charmes group, which specialises in only luxury boutique hotels around the world. The underlying ethos is to offer a unique hospitality experience for guests looking for something special and distinctive
